A Legal Professional Association

Matt is an Associate with the firm where he practices on the above areas of law for almost 17 years.

Matt spends the majority of his time offering legal services in all types of domestic relations matters. He takes time to understand each unique situation and provide advice with everyone's best interest in mind. The types of matters that he is typically involved in include: dissolution, divorce, legal separations, custody, child support, alimony, property division, pre nuptial agreements parental rights and guardianships. He also understands how to get qualified domestic relation orders (QDRO) issued to ensure pension funds are properly dealt with after divorce.

Another portion of Matt's time is spent on Civil Litigation matters. While Matt can be very aggressive and help resolve issues when in court, he devotes a considerable amount of time counseling clients regarding how to minimize the risk of litigation and negotiate contracts and documents so that should a dispute arise, the client's rights are spelled out as clearly as possible. He understands that a little time and effort up front can help clients minimize, or sometimes even avoid, the cost and expense associated with litigation and other dispute resolution forums.

Other business services that Matt provides on a regular basis include helping small businesses with formation, growth strategies, and purchasing and selling agreements. He has a great deal of experience with administrative law issues surrounding liquor establishments. Additionally, in a commercial foreclosure situation, there is a need for a court appointed Receiver. Matt is an appointed Receiver throughout Southern Ohio for benefit of creditors.
